Hydroponics is a subset of hydroculture, which is a method of growing plants without soil by using mineral nutrient solutions in a water solvent. Terrestrial plants may be grown with only their roots exposed to the mineral solution, or the roots may be supported by an inert medium, such as perlite or gravel.. The nutrients used in hydroponic systems can come from an array of different sources ...

6 The Experience of Imprisonment. This chapter summarizes what is known about the nature of prison life and its consequences for prisoners. The dramatic rise in incarceration rates in the United States beginning in the mid-1970s has meant that many more people have been sent to prison and, on average, have remained there for longer periods of time.

This is really good. But I also think there's a reason our base cultural values are used as a tiebreaker "they're designed to minimize the average actual distaste the average person has with the status quo (You can't have a cultural norm if too many people object to it too strongly, it ends up changing).
