A database is an organized collection of data, generally stored and accessed electronically from a computer system. Where databases are more complex they are often developed using formal design and modeling techniques.. The database management system (DBMS) is the software that interacts with end users, applications, and the database itself to capture and analyze the data.

Database normalization is the process of restructuring a relational database in accordance with a series of so-called normal forms in order to reduce data redundancy and improve data integrity. It was first proposed by Edgar F. Codd as an integral part of his relational model.. Normalization entails organizing the columns (attributes) and tables (relations) of a database to ensure that their ...
