Friction is the force resisting the relative motion of solid surfaces, fluid layers, and material elements sliding against each other. There are several types of friction: Dry friction is a force that opposes the relative lateral motion of two solid surfaces in contact. Dry friction is subdivided into static friction ("stiction") between non-moving surfaces, and kinetic friction between moving ...

A dashpot is a mechanical device, a damper which resists motion via viscous friction. The resulting force is proportional to the velocity, but acts in the opposite direction, slowing the motion and absorbing energy. It is commonly used in conjunction with a spring (which acts to resist displacement). The process and instrumentation diagram (P&ID) symbol for a dashpot is

THE FUNDAMENTALS 5 ALPHA ALPHA unavoidable phenomena like vibrations, misalignment and shaft run-out and for this reason it's called "dynamic" (Fig.6) It follows that such parameters as working length, gasket compatibility with the process fluid, dimension and finishing of the shaft have to be carefully considered for good application of a mechanical seal.
